Primary education is free, but students must pay an annual fee to cover the cost of books, uniforms and classroom supplies. Children who cannot pay are not allowed in school.

90% live without electricity or running water > more that 50% of the population survive on this amount > > per day

Education is a Fundamental Human Right

In 1948, the United Nations adopted the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, including the right to education, which is central to achieving the United Nation's Millennium Development Goals.

UGANDA Circle of Peace School

MaryLove Bbaale, Principal Charles Bbaale, Director

- EMAIL marylovebaale@gmail.com
- PHONE (011) 256 789 043612
- MAIL 22 Mobutu Road, Mubarak-Kanisa Road Kyandodo Sub-Country, Makindye Division Kampala District, Uganda
- WEB www.circleofpeace.org

UNITED STATES

Circle of Peace International

Joanita Bbaale Senoga, President

- EMAIL circleofpeaceintl@gmail.com
- PHONE 804-247-1177
- MAIL 2404 Prestwick Road Henrico, Virginia 23294
- WEB www.circleofpeaceintl.org

Only 20% of boys 17% of girls are educated past the 7th grade

UGANDA LAND AREA: 77,108 sq miles POPULATION: 35,918,915

CAPITAL: Kampala GOVERNMENT: Democratic republic OFFICIAL LANGUAGE: English CURRENCY: Ugandan new shilling

Circle of Peace School

Makindye, Uganda

A sanctuary for learning

CIRCLE OF PEACE SCHOOL

At Circle of Peace School in Makindye-a suburb of Uganda's capital city-about 300 boys and girls from preschool through grade six receive the education that they would otherwise be denied because they are unable to pay the required public school fees. Students live in a safe and nurturing environment where they can realize their full potential and develop as people who experience human rights and fundamental freedoms. The school is run by its founders, the Bbaale family. Classes are taught in English. The School serves children of all faiths; both Christian and Muslim students attend.

Forty orphans and underprivileged students reside in a boys' dormitory and a girls' dormitory on campus. The school provides for all their needs: housing, food, clothing, medical care and emotional support. Approximately one-third of the pupils have at least one parent who is deceased or ill from HIV or AIDS. Without COPI, they would have no home, food or education. Most of the school's students commute from home.

1997 Circle of Peace School licensed by the Ugandan Ministry of Education.

> A new Circle of Peace campus established at the Bbaale family compound to serve grades four through seven.

at Bbaale compound.

2010

Circle of Peace School is governed by a board of directors which reports to the Ugandan Ministry of Education. Despite meager conditions, the school's students do very well on required national tests and also are extremely well-behaved.

Circle of Peace School receives no government funding. It is primarily supported by the selfless commitment of the Bbaale family, headed by Amina Bbaale, the family matriarch. Five of her daughters and three of her sons, as well as other relatives, either work at the school or provide for it financially. Families of the students contribute what they can toward their child's education, and the school generates operating income from a poultry farm.

Most importantly, the school relies on the generous donations of international supporters. All donations, cash and in-kind, are greatly appreciated. No gift is too small.

> Chicken farm established to feed the children and earn money for the school. Funded by the Davis Projects for Peace Foundation grant.

system installed.

2012

Shower stalls built.

2011

Original lower school campus

abandoned and all classrooms were consolidated on the Bbaale family compound.

Land purchased for campus expansion and additional solar panels installed. Funded by the Clinton Global Initiative grant.

New desks, school uniforms, television, mattress covers, team uniforms, classroom and office supplies donated.

IT STARTS WITH LOVE

In 1991, Uganda native Joanita Bbaale earned a degree in Education from Kibuli Teachers College. As a public school teacher, she was troubled by the fact that underprivileged students were denied an education because their families were too poor to pay school fees. Joanita often found herself teaching basic reading to her Sunday school pupils.

A national effort to enroll Uganda's children in nursery schools was initiated in the early 1990s. Because there were no nursery schools in her area, Joanita left her paid teaching position to establish a local school for the children in her neighborhood. There were initially eight students who met on the porch of her parents' home that first year. Soon more students began coming.

At the end of the 1994 term, parents pleaded with Joanita to continue teaching their children. She and her family responded by renting land, erecting temporary classrooms, and adding teachers. Higher grades were added each year until the school was offering nursery through seventh grade classes.

In 2011, Circle of Peace International was established as a US-based 501c3 nonprofit corporation, whose mission is to assist the Circle of Peace School in meeting the educational needs of its students.

and windows installed, dining shed renovated, building purchased to serve as girls

> New classroom built. girls dormitory and kitchen renovated.

YOU CAN HELP

care, books and an education for a student at Circle of Peace School. You can change a child's life with the gift of opportunity and hope at www.circleofpeaceintl.org.

SPONSOR A PROJECT

Visit www.circleofpeaceintl.org and choose a specific Circle of Peace School project that resonates with you. Make a donation, fill a need and help sustain the work being done on behalf of deserving children.

I would not trade anything for my experiences at Circle of Peace School.

AMINA NAMAZZI

A water harvesting system and solar thermal water heating